Increase, 1914 .....	$1,904,825

During the year 1914, 469 building permits were issued by the city at an estimated cost of $4,397,920.

May 26 1917

To realize the advancement of the capital, the increase in the taxable assessment for the last eleven years, from 1904 to 1914, is:

Year	Land value	Improvement value	Population
1914	$51,988,826	$39,419,750	108,872
1904	12,824,215	17,471,625	79,851

The area of the city in 1904 was 3,365 $\frac{1}{4}$  acres.

Ottawa, the capital city of the Dominion, boasting worthily as it does of commercial and residential buildings superior to all other cities in Canada, is steadily increasing in every way that is an advantage to the modern city.

The history of Ottawa occupies an unique place in the history of Canada. Founded in 1827 as Bytown and incorporated in 1847 under that name, it was, in the year 1854, given its present name and incorporated as a city. The honor rested upon Ottawa, selected possibly because of its peculiar position joining Upper and Lower Canada as it does, to be chosen by her Majesty the late Queen Victoria to be the Capital City of the Dominion of Canada, and in 1859 ratification was made by the Canadian Parliament of this excellent selection that gave Ottawa the most important place amongst the cities of the Dominion.

To the five Wards into which the city was divided in 1887 a sixth was added by the annexation of Edinburgh Village. A further advance was taken by the city in 1889 made necessary by the annexing of further property hitherto on the outskirts that increased the number of Wards to eight.

Bayswater, Hintonburgh, Ottawa South, Rideauville and Ottawa East were added to the city from time to time until on February 22nd, 1909, the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board sanctioned the addition of a new ward comprising those parts of Wellington and Central Wards lying south of the G.T.R. tracks. It was later in the same year that the Board further sanctioned the annexation by which the Township of Nepean "west of Bayswater" was united with the city.

With the further addition of Mechanicsville, containing 99 acres, the city has an aggregate area of 5,295 $\frac{1}{4}$  acres, and promises to hold its own amongst the progressive and growing cities of the Dominion.

Again we desire to thank our patrons for their continued support.

Au cours de l'année 1914, 469 permis de construction ont été émis par la ville et la valeur de ces construction est évaluée à $4,397,920.

Afin de donner une idée de l'avancement de la Capitale, nous donnons ci-après l'augmentation de la valeur taxable depuis les onze dernières années, c'est-à-dire de 1904 à 1914:

Année	Valeur immobilière	Valeur des améliorations	Population
1914	$51,988,826	$39,419,750	108,872
1904	12,824,215	17,471,625	63,254

La superficie de la ville en 1904 était de 3,365 $\frac{1}{4}$  acres.

Ottawa, la Capitale de la Puissance, vantant à juste titre ses édifices commerciaux et résidentiels qui sont supérieurs à ceux de toutes les autres villes du Canada, progresse continuellement à tous les points de vue.

L'histoire d'Ottawa occupe une place unique dans l'histoire du Canada. Fondée en 1827 sous le nom de Bytown et incorporée en 1847 sous ce même nom elle recevait, au cours de l'année 1854 son nom actuel et était incorporée comme ville. C'est à Ottawa que fut conféré l'honneur à cause de sa position géographique, sur les confins du Haut et du Bas Canada, d'être choisie par Sa Majesté feu la Reine Victoria, pour être la ville capitale de la Puissance du Canada. En 1859 le Parlement canadien ratifiait ce choix excellent qui avait donné et qui donne à Ottawa la place la plus importante parmi les villes de la Puissance.

Aux cinq quartiers qui formaient les divisions de la ville en 1887, fut ajouté un sixième par l'annexion du village d'Edinburg. Un nouveau pas fut fait par la ville en 1889, alors qu'elle annexait de nouvelles propriétés qui jusque là avaient fait partie de la banlieue, et portait le nombre de ses quartiers à huit.

Bayswater, Hintonburg, Ottawa-sud, Rideauville et Ottawa-est furent annexés à la ville à des dates successives, et le 22 février 1909 la Commission des Chemins de fer et Municipalités d'Ontario sanctionnait l'addition d'un nouveau quartier comprenant les propriétés des quartiers Wellington et Central, situées au sud des voies de la compagnie du Grand Tronc. Un peu plus tard la même année la Commission sanctionnait une nouvelle annexion qui unissait à la ville—le canton de Nepean, à l'ouest de Bayswater.

Avec l'annexion de Mechanicsville, d'une superficie de 99 acres, la superficie de la ville s'est trouvée portée à 5,295 $\frac{1}{4}$  acres. A l'heure actuelle, la ville d'Ottawa promet de garder son rang parmi les villes plus progressives de la Puissance.

De nouveau nous désirons adresser nos plus sincères remerciements à nos abonnés pour leur encouragement indéfectible.

HOW TRUE THIS IS

Book Agents get the G.B., and Insurance Solicitors are shown the door, BUT the Postman is one caller who never gets the passover.

The best of salesmen are given the "Call Again" hold up, BUT the Postman is a welcome visitor—he always gets by.

THEREFORE, Advertising through the Mails invariably receives some attention and the best class of letters or booklets are always given mature consideration.

Get next to the Postman, he'll land your prospect.
